KRISHNAGAR GOVT. COLLEGE

KRISHNAGAR GOVT. COLLEGE
NAAC ACCREDITED A-GRADED INSTITUTION OF HIGHER EDUCATION
COLLEGE WITH POTENTIAL FOR EXCELLENCE

Krishnagar College was established based on the education pattern of the Imperial British Raj. In a publication of Macaulay in 1835, more emphasis was put on higher education than on education for the masses. According to him their capacity was too little to provide with education for such a large mass of commoners. Rather it was preferable to formulate an elite class of academia who will be a holistic aid to smooth running of the administration under the then British domain. This highly educated class was supposed to be completely British in their temperament and outlook though in flesh and blood they were Indians.

By and by the necessity of women's education was also felt, which led to turn this college into a coeducational institution in 1932. Presently, our principal aim is to impart finest quality of higher education to one and all irrespective of differences in gender, caste, creed, religion and socio-economic conditions. This college is located in the District Head Quarter of Nadia District, namely Krishnagar. This is a suburb surrounded by rural atmosphere. Yet, the greater perspective is to help the students to upgrade their socio-economic conditions along with their sense of responsibilities to be good citizens of the nation.

The journey of this educational institute started on 28th November, 1845 in a local rented house located at Hatarpara. For its smooth running, the college was provided with a grant on 1st of January, 1846 by the British Government. The king (Raja) of Nadia, Srishachandra Roy and the queen (Maharani) of Cossimbazaar of Murshidabad district Srimati Swarnamoyee contributed vast tracts of land for construction of a new college building. Moreover, the local elites also came forward with financial assistance to build up the present palatial building of Krishnagar College. On 1st of June, 1856, the institution was shifted from that rented house to this palace.

For the last 168 years this institution of higher education represents the outcome of a series of vicissitudes, political understandings, exchange of socio-cultural values and ethics across the borders and has traced out a glorious historical pathway of culture and civilization for Bengal in particular and India in general. Located a few kilometers away from Krishnagar railway station, avoiding the din and bustle of congested lifestyle, this abode of Goddess Saraswati (the Goddess of learning and knowledge), has evolved into an ideal place of learning in a serene environment. It is surrounded by huge playgrounds and fields on one side and two boys' hostels on the other. The whole setup portrays a picturesque landscape.

The first Principal of this college was the eminent Shakespearian scholar Captain D.L. Richardson. Others among the eminent persons who adorned the chair of the Principal were Mr. Rockford, Sir Roper Lathebridge, Ray Bahadur Jyoti Bhusan Bhaduri, Sri Satish Chandra Dey, Mr. R.N. Gilchrist and many more. All of them were stalwarts in the field of higher education.

The eminent professors of this college were Babu Ramtanu Lahiri, Sri Madan Mohan Tarkalankar, Sri Ananta Lal Tagore, Sri Chintaharan Chakraborty, Sri Subodh Chandra Sengupta, Sri Abdul Hai, Sri Kshudiram Das, Sri Harendra Chandra Pal and others.

Among the students of this college the most renowned were Akshay Kumar Datta of Bengal, who was a Social Scientist as well as a social reformer, Sri Satish Chandra Acharya, an expert in Sanskrit, Pali, Bengali Literature and Buddhist religious studies, Sri D.L. Roy, famous poet and dramatist, Bijay Lal Chattopadhyaya Charon Kabi (Minstrel-troubadour) and Journalist, Geologist Sri Pramatha Nath Basu, Sri Jagadananda Roy, author of Science related articles, Philosopher Sri Surendranath Dasgupta, Sri Debiprasad Chattopadhyaya, eminent speaker of Colloquial Philosophy, revolutionary Sri Hemanta Kumar Sarkar, Academy Award winning writer Sri Sudhir Chakraborty, Retd. Chief Justice Sri Mukul Gopal Mukhopadhyaya who was also ex-Chairman of West Bengal Human Rights Commission, Sri Anil Biswas, progressive Marxist activist, Sri Subhash Sarbadhikary, Olympic Football player, and Sri Basanta Sinharoy who reached the summit of the Mt. Everest in 2010 and many more.

From 1999 onwards this college has been incorporated under the University of Kalyani. Post-graduate teaching was introduced in the Departments of Geography and Philosophy in 2002, in the Department of Bengali in 2008 and in the Department of Zoology in 2010.
